PROGRAMME | Cultivating Leaders
Developing Community Practitioners

In the dynamic landscape of community development, the significance of training and mentoring young individuals aspiring to become community development practitioners in rural areas, cannot be overstated. As the heartbeat of sustainable progress, rural communities often face unique challenges that demand specialized skills, empathy, and a deep understanding of local dynamics.

Description

Effective community development requires a cadre of dedicated professionals equipped with the knowledge, strategies, and practical experience to navigate these complexities.

Investing in the education and mentorship of emerging young talents not only ensures the transfer of invaluable expertise but also cultivates a new generation of leaders capable of addressing the nuanced needs of rural populations.

Programme Structure and Activities: The standard intern programme includes the following activities that are managed by Angels Resource Centres.

Administration and Onboarding:

- Recruitment activities
- Selection and Placement
- Human Resource management
- Devices and Transport

Development and Training: 18 Months programme includes the following qualification NQF L4 Community Development Practitioner Certificate.

Various soft skills and life coaching sessions facilitated by the Mind Retirement Institute. In the event that an intern has already attained a comparable qualification, we offer a choice of alternative training that is synergistic with community development work:

- Project Management; Environmental Practitioner; Supply Chain Management

Our commitment to the training and mentoring of young people in the communities we serve, emerges as a cornerstone in fostering resilient, empowered, and self-sufficient rural communities, ultimately contributing to the holistic advancement of society at large.

Effective rural community development - Promoting sustainable progress!
