Youth Camps

A platform for youth to become champions of environmentally conscious issues and equip them with skills that will positively impact their futures.

OUTCOMES:

A week of outdoor activities, engaging with nature, participating in fun team challenges, developing their leadership skills, and enjoying informative and interactive outings and workshops, exposes the youth to many life-changing experiences. Collaborating with PeaceJam, we create a platform for youth to talk about social issues, equipping them with information and skills to make decisions that will positively impact their future.

IMPLEMENTATION & IMPACT:

- Youth Camps are hosted at the Soetwater Environmental Centre based in Kommetjie, Cape Town, during the April and December school holidays and are ideal for school going youth aged 13 to 16. (Learners in Gr 8-10)
- The Youth become champions of environmentally conscious issues and take these positive practices back to their own rural communities.
- The impact of the camp experiences can create hope by offering them positive choices and inspiring and identifying young leaders.
- Youth who participate in this camp will make ideal candidates for other youth/teen focussed programmes.

Making a positive impact on youth in rural communities!
